Upper Primary

2B have been talking a lot about their feelings in class. They have been using a 'feelings wall' to promote discussion & understanding of feelings, and help the children to express and talk about their feelings throughout the day.

The 'feelings wall' is interactive and children are asked to share their feelings each morning and after playtimes, and are encouraged to use it independently whenever they feel they need to. Using the wall has provided staff with opportunities to support children with their feelings and open up discussions about incidents that have made them feel that way. The children really enjoy using the 'feelings wall' and are now actively and openly wanting to share their feelings with others.
